from one of the world s leading writers on religion and the highly acclaimed author of the bestselling a history of god the battle for god and the spiral staircase comes a major new work a chronicle of one of the most important intellectual revolutions in world history and its relevance to our own time in one astonishing short period the ninth century bce the peoples of four distinct regions of the civilized world created the religious and philosophical traditions that have continued to nourish humanity into the present day confucianism and daoism in china hinduism and buddhism in india monotheism in israel and philosophical rationalism in greece historians call this the axial age because of its central importance to humanity s spiritual development now karen armstrong traces the rise and development of this transformative moment in history examining the brilliant contributions to these traditions made by such figures as the buddha socrates confucius and ezekiel armstrong makes clear that despite some differences of emphasis

there was remarkable consensus among these religions and philosophies each insisted on the primacy of compassion over hatred and violence she illuminates what this family resemblance reveals about the religious impulse and quest of humankind and she goes beyond spiritual archaeology delving into the ways in which these axial age beliefs can present an instructive and thought provoking challenge to the ways we think about and practice religion today a revelation of humankind's early shared imperatives yearnings and inspired solutions as salutary as it is fascinating excerpt from the great transformation in our global world we can no longer afford a parochial or exclusive vision we must learn to live and behave as though people in remote parts of the globe were as important as ourselves the sages of the axial age did not create their compassionate ethic in idyllic circumstances each tradition developed in societies like our own that were torn apart by violence and warfare as never before indeed the first catalyst of religious change was usually a visceral rejection of the aggression that the sages witnessed all around them all the great traditions that were created at this time are in agreement about the supreme importance of charity and benevolence and this tells us something important about our humanity what is our nature what is this enigma that we call human who are we since the dawn of human history people have exhibited wildly contradictory qualities good and evil love and hate strength and weakness kindness and cruelty aggressiveness and pacifism generosity and greed courage and cowardice experiencing a sense of eternity in our hearts but at the same time confined to temporal and spatial constraints we seek to understand ourselves both individually and as a species in who are we theories of human nature esteemed author louis p pojman seeks to find answers to these questions by exploring major theories in western philosophy and religion along with several traditions in eastern thought the most comprehensive work of its kind the volume opens with chapters on the hebrew christian view of human nature and the contrasting classical greek theories outlining a dichotomy between faith and reason that loosely frames the rest of the book the following chapters cover the medieval view hindu and buddhist perspectives conservative and liberal theories kant s copernican revolution schopenhauer s pessimistic idealism and karl marx s theory freud s psychoanalytic view the existentialist perspective the darwinian view and scientific materialism are also discussed pojman concludes with a discussion of the question of free will ultimately asserting that each one of us must decide for ourselves who and what we are and based on that answer how we shall live understanding self and others in the postmodern world is unlike most books directed at giving people insight into themselves in that it is addressed to those who want to think about their lives relationships with others and how western culture has arrived at the postmodern world this book examines seven different worldviews that have become dominant for periods of time in the history of western culture the author explains that although all worldviews share the same structure and characteristics they vary markedly in their contents further a worldview molds those entering it after its own image those readers 1 who identify their own assumptions about the nature of reality what it means to be a human being and the truth will gain insight into themselves and identifying the assumptions held by others on these matters will give the reader insight into them the problem in the postmodern world is that we live and work with people who live in these different worlds that situation has invited disagreement and conflict which unresolved has led to the chaos that is characteristic of our time the solution before the nations of the west is that each citizen must grant to all others the same rights to life liberty and the pursuit of happiness he or she claims for him or herself
